According to the Washington Department of Veterans Affairs, one in nine Washington residents is a veteran.

Institutions of higher education provide a variety of benefits for veterans and their families pursuing higher education. State law permits that within state-supported waiver authority, institutions of higher education may waive all or a portion of tuition and fees for:

- an eligible veteran or National Guard member;
- the child or spouse of an eligible veteran or National Guard member who was totally disabled in the line of duty, or who is listed as missing in action or a prisoner of war; or
- the surviving child or spouse of an eligible veteran or National Guard member killed in the line of duty. Upon remarriage however, the surviving spouse no longer is eligible for a waiver.

Institutions of higher education also may waive all or a portion of tuition and fees for a military or naval veteran who did not serve in active federal service abroad or in support of those serving abroad, and who does not qualify as an eligible veteran or National Guard member.

In addition to tuition waivers, higher education institutions provide other benefits to veterans pursuing higher education. One example is the Vet Corps Navigator program funded by the federal program, AmeriCorps. The purpose of Vet Corps Navigators is to help veterans achieve their higher education goals. Vet Corps Navigators provide connections with federal, state, or local veterans benefits and financial aid programs, and help them adjust to college life. There are Vet Corps Navigators stationed at 17 community and technical colleges, five public baccalaureate institutions, and Pacific Lutheran University.

Summary of Substitute Bill:

Beginning in the academic year 2012-13, institutions of higher education that offer an early course registration period for any segment of the student population are required to have a process in place to offer students who are eligible veterans or National Guard members early registration as follows:

- New students who are eligible veterans or National Guard members and who have completed all of their admission processes must be offered an early course registration period.
- Continuing students who are eligible veterans or National Guard members who have met current enrollment requirements must be offered early course registration among students with the same level of class standing or credit as determined by the attending institution and according to institutional policies.

In order to be eligible, veterans or National Guard members must be a Washington domiciliary who was an active or reserve member of the United States military or naval forces, or a National Guard member called to active duty, who served in active federal service under either Title 10 or Title 32 of the United States Code, in a war or conflict fought on foreign soil or in international waters, or in another location in support of those serving on foreign soil or in international waters, and if discharged from service, has received an honorable discharge.

The provisions expire on August 1, 2021.

Substitute Bill Compared to Original Bill:

Only those higher education institutions that already offer an early course registration period for any segment of the student population are required to offer early course registration for veterans and National Guard members. The word "course" is added to clarify that "early registration" means "early course registration." Veterans or National Guard members who are new students must complete all of their admission processes, and those who are continuing students must meet enrollment requirements in order to be offered early course registration. An expiration date of August 1, 2021, is added.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Requested on January 30, 2012.

Effective Date of Substitute Bill: The bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of the session in which the bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony:

(In support) The proposed substitute bill addressed our concerns. Veterans are already prioritized at community and technical colleges. Giving students some lead time to secure their classes and send information to the Department of Veterans Affairs works well with the number of requirements. For continuing students in the community college sector, the students with enough credit get some lead time to register.

(In support with concerns) Prioritizing one group over the other has broader policy implications.

(Opposed) None.

Persons Testifying: (In support) Representative Angel, prime sponsor; Ted Wicorek, Veterans Legislative Coalition; Paul Francis, Council of Presidents; Scott Copeland, State Board for Community and Technical Colleges; Sherry Burkey, Western Washington University; and David Mitchell, Olympic College.

(In support with concerns) Michele Johnson, Pierce College.

Persons Signed In To Testify But Not Testifying: None.
